FAIRSING VINEYARD
2023 DARDIS PINOT NOIR

VINTAGE

Cool and wet weather thru April resulted in a slow start to the 2023 growing season.

Our weather heated up significantly in April and was followed by budbreak on May 3.

Grape shoot growth on the vine was rapid, and bloom occurred on June 12. We observed color change, or véraison, in mid-August.

On August 31, after 112 days without precipitation, we receive a welcome and replenishing rain. Harvest began September 20 under sunny skies and yielded consistently beautiful fruit for our Dardis Pinot noir.

This combination of Dijon 115 and Pommard was fermented in two-ton fermenters before it was aged for 10 months in barrels, 32% of which were new and the remainder neutral French oak.

The wine was bottled on August 21, 2024 with a final alcohol of 14.1%.
